CALMLY ADMITS KILLING OF 14

Persons, Including The Rexroat Woman.

ROBBERY ALWAYS HIS MOTIVE

Modern Bluebeard Recites
Story of Horror Concerning His Killings.

HAMMER HIS DEADLY WEAPON

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, dancing teacher, who was shot to death at Wheaton, Ill., a week ago, was the victim of a modern Bluebeard, who, according to his own confession, had killed thirteen others in as many years.

Henry Spencer, arrested in a room near the South Side Levee district, tonight confessed that he not only killed Mrs. Rexroat, but that he had slain fourteen persons. He was positively identified as the mysterious Mr. Spencer, with whom Mrs. Rexroat left Chicago on the night she was killed.

Mrs. Rexroat's bloodstained rattle case was found in his room, as was the revolver with which he said he had killed her.

The police, while in doubt as to the full truth of Spencer's story, are confident they have found a wholesale murderer and that he will be proved to have killed at least several of those whose deaths he described in a long confession to-night.

Spencer's confession was so startling it probably would have received no credence had not the bloody rattle case and the revolver confirmed at least part of his statement.

The following is the list of killings Spencer related to the police: "Prior to September 12, 1912:

Patrolman Timothy Devine and Charles Pennell, shot at Ashland avenue and Congress street, where they surprised Spencer and a man named Murphy in the act of forcing the door of a house. Murphy died in the penitentiary, Spencer said.

Fannie Thompson, murdered in a rooming house at Twelfth street and Michigan avenue; robbed of diamonds worth $1,200. Luman Mann, son of a wealthy Chicagoan, narrowly escaped conviction on circumstantial evidence for this crime.

September 12, 1912, to September 26, 1913:

Two girls at Pawpaw, Mich., in May or June. Beat them on the head with a hammer and threw their bodies into the lake.

Girl at Delvin Lake, Wis., in June, killed with hammer and body thrown into water.

Aged man in Jackson Park last spring. Met the man at the Illinois Central Station and went with him to Washington Park. There Spencer shot him and threw the body into the swan pond. This was about six months ago. Robbed body of $200.

Woman in a house at Fulton and Halsted streets about eight months ago. Killed her with a hammer. Burned her clothing and robbed the house.

Woman in a house about two blocks from the county hospital. Again used a hammer and burned the clothing. Got $140 and some rings.

Woman in Belle Isle Park, Detroit, Mich. Met the woman in New York. Came with her to Chicago and then both went to Detroit. He beat her to death and took her money, burning her clothes and body. Did not know her name.

"They all lie to you," he said. His first wife at Montgomery, N. Y. Beat her to death and took $300 in money and diamonds worth $800. English immigrant woman. Killed her near Western avenue and threw her body into drainage canal. Body was recovered, but identity never established.

Saloonkeeper on Van Buren street, near Aberdeen street. Shot man and wounded his wife while robbing saloon.

Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, murdered at Wayne, Ill., September 26.

All of his murders, except two, he declared, had been for the purpose of robbery. The two, Policemen Pennell and Devine, shot to death twelve years ago, he said he killed to escape being arrested.

"I intended to kill Mrs. A. J. Scofield, the proprietor of the rooming house where I have been living," he said. "If I hadn't been arrested at just this time I would have killed her."

A woman, with whom Spencer is said formerly to have lived, told the police that on the night of September 26 Spencer came to her house. His shoes were covered with dust, and he showed a diamond ring resembling the one worn by Mrs. Rexroat. He also took a revolver from his pocket and removed an empty shell, which he threw from the window.

"I met Mrs. Rexroat two months ago at a dance hall," Spencer said in his written confession, "right after she got a divorce from her first husband. I got acquainted without any trouble, nobody introducing us. I took her home that night and we decided to be good friends."

"After that night I saw her three or four nights a week for several weeks. She thought I was a farmer and would be easy pickings, so I tried to keep that impression with her."

"Mrs. Rexroat was easy. She thought she was working me the same way she worked the farmer. She thought I was a farmer like her husband, and could work the same way. I let her think so. At first I was going to take her to Michigan and kill her there, but finally I decided it would be less trouble to take her a little way out on the car line and get it over in a business-like way. She came along just as I told her."

"When we got out at the station it was nearly 8 o'clock. We turned around and walked down the track until we got where it was dark. I took her by the right arm, pulled out my gun and shot her through the head. Then I laid her on the railroad track so she would be 'there up.'"

"I took what few dollars she had and her diamond ring. I opened her suitcase and dumped her stuff out of it and brought it back to Chicago with me. I took the next train back about ten minutes after I shot her."

"I didn't want the ring. I never go to pawnshops. That's the way people get caught. I gave the ring to a girl—just a common girl I met on the street. She went to New York Tuesday or Wednesday."

Spencer said he had married four women. Killing the first one near West Point, N. Y. He did not know exactly how many years ago. One wife is living in Detroit, he said, and another in Chicago.

Spencer gave details of his alleged murders at the Wisconsin and Michigan records, where he said he had spent most of the summer as a hotel thief, committing an occasional murder.

Just a Dream of Crime.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Of the fourteen murders Henry Spencer, slayer of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, swore he committed, the police tonight, after investigating his alleged crimes in various cities, were able to fix upon him only one murder, possibly two.

Captain Halpin, chief of detective bureau, announced he is convinced that Spencer, in giving his long circumstantial confession of fiendish crimes, was a consummate falsifier.

Four murders he says he committed, were perpetrated while Spencer was in the Illinois State prison at Joliet. The police here and other cities have no record of the twelve alleged murders.

Captain Halpin said Spencer's imagination, stimulated by drugs, poured out one of the most fantastic tales of murder that has ever come from a mind given to dreams of crime.

Captain Halpin declared to-night he has completed proof that Spencer murdered Mrs. Rexroat, and is almost equally confident he murdered Mrs. Annabelle Wright, whose home was robbed December 4, 1912. She was so badly beaten with a hammer that she died July 13, 1913.

COAL OPERATOR INJURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Greenville, Ky., Oct. 6.—D. S. Duncan, of the W. G. Duncan Coal Company, was seriously injured in an automobile accident at Graham today. It is said that the automobile in which Mr. Duncan was riding turned turtle, plunging him, Dave Christian, who also was in the car, except with slight scalp wounds. Mr. Duncan was not able to be brought to his home here.

TEDDY SAILS ON BRAZILIAN TRIP

To Penetrate Unexplored
Part Of Country.

HE WILL LECTURE FOR AWHILE

Before Taking to the Woods
—Before Starting, He Denies a Rumor.

USES "SHORT BUT TUGLY WORD"

New York, Oct. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt and party, bound for South America, where the Colonel will first lecture and then explore portions of the continent hitherto untrod by white men, sailed on the steamship Vandyck shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Roosevelt held a reception in his suite before the boat got away and took occasion to reply to William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the Republican State Committee, who issued a statement last night, saying the Democrats and Progressives were in league to nominate Supreme Court Justice Seabury, of this city, for the Court of Appeals.

"That is one of Barnes' habitual lies," said Col. Roosevelt. "There has been no agreement whatever with reference to Justice Seabury."

Commenting on the fact that he had omitted from his set speech, delivered at a banquet in his honor last night, references to the Panama Canal Zone and complimentary allusions to Brazil, Chile and the Argentine Republic, the colonel explained he had done so merely because he thought other things more important. The trip on to South America, will occupy seventeen days. The Colonel will be joined there by his son Kermit.

Like his first African trip, the South American journey is undertaken with the Colonel proposing to make it one of many aspects aside from the pleasure of it. His chief interest probably lies in the proposed penetration of the interior of Brazil with a party of fellow naturalists under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, but the earlier part of the six months which he will spend in South America will be devoted to addresses upon American democracy, which he has been invited to deliver before universities and other bodies. A trip into Patagonia to visit an out-of-the-way mission, and the crossing of the continent to Santiago de Chile and back to Buenos Ayres will be other features of his journey.

Those who prepared to embark with him to-day were: Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Margaret Roosevelt, who will make the round trip on the Vandyck; Anthony Plaza, the polar explorer, who has charge of the expedition's equipment; G. K. Cherry and Lee L. Miller, naturalists of the American Museum of Natural History; Frank Harper, Col. Roosevelt's secretary, and the Rev. Father John Augustine Zahm, provincial of the Order of the Holy Cross, a former field companion of the Colonel.

The naturalists will start into the interior shortly after their arrival in Brazil, to be joined by the Colonel after he has finished his lectures, which will be in December. It will probably be April before the party returns to civilization.

Teddy Stands Pat.

Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt in addressing an audience of 2,000 of his friends and followers at a dinner given in his honor the night before he sailed for the Southern Hemisphere, said, among other things: "I warn our opponents that the light has only just begun. I will never abandon the principles to which we Progressives have pledged ourselves."

MRS. J. D. HOCKER SUES HUSBAND FOR DIVORCE

The Owensboro Inquirer says: Through her attorney, Floyd Lawwell, Mrs. Bertha Hocker has sued her husband, Rev. J. D. Hocker, for an absolute divorce on the grounds of abandonment and failure to provide for her six children.

The petition states that the couple were married at Haynesville, in Ohio county, on May 4, 1893, and without fault on her part, the defendant abandoned her over two years ago, and is now living in Evansville. Mrs. Hocker asks for a divorce and the custody of her children, whose ages range from six to 13 years.

Rev. J. D. Hocker is well known in Owensboro, where he was engaged at one time, in ministerial work of the Baptist faith. At one time, while residing on East Fourth street he became mentally deranged, and was sent to a sanitarium, where he later recovered.

WATERS OF THE OCEANS WILL NEVER MINGLE

Washington, Oct. 6. Widespread prevalence of the idea that there will be an actual union of the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific Canal caused the War Department to issue a statement explaining the plain, prescient fact that sea water on either side of the Isthmus will go no further than the entrances of the great waterway.

"To those who know the engineering features," said the statement, "this idea is rather amusing, as so far as the canal is concerned the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific will never mingle. The Gatun Lake, which is midway of the canal, has an elevation of eighty-five feet above the oceans, and water from this lake will merely flow each way to the two oceans, the water from the lake being fresh and derived from the drainage of the surrounding area."

The statement also explained that the blowing up of the Gamboa dike October 10 will not permit the passage of even a rowboat from ocean to ocean, as it will be necessary to complete the removal of the dike by dredging and then to dredge out the Cuencha slide before the canal will be open from end to end.

ROYAL OF AGED COUPLE STIFTED WITH MONEY

South Norwalk, Conn., Oct. 4.—Daniel Shaw, a recluse, and his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Realey, 80 years old, have lived for many years in a hovel in the outskirts of this place, apparently in the utmost poverty. Their nearest neighbor was a mile away.

To-day, when they were removed to the town poorhouse, a search of the hovel revealed many rolls of bills, besides bank books showing balances of several thousand dollars in each bank. The money was sewed in old skirts, stuck behind pictures, between the leaves of the family Bible and under the carpet. Fearing that all of the wealth has not yet been discovered, the police are keeping a constant watch on the place.

The secret was revealed by a tragedy. Shaw, who is weak-minded, climbed out on the roof of the hovel and fell to the ground, where he lay unconscious, presumably for two days, exposed to rain and the cold. In the meanwhile the old woman in the hovel was unable either to help him or herself. A neighbor discovered their plight this morning. Both will probably be removed to an asylum. It is thought that Shaw's skull is fractured and that he will not recover.

WOMAN KILLS ANOTHER IN A DANCE PAVILION

Nicholasville, Ky., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Silas Gibson, 35, a married woman, shot and instantly killed Mrs. James Smith, a young married woman, in the dancing pavilion at High Bridge this afternoon. Mrs. Smith was holding a young baby in her arms, which was thrown over the railing to the ground when its mother was shot. It was not badly hurt.

Jealousy is the alleged cause of the killing. Mrs. Gibson was brought here to-night and lodged in jail.

PRESIDENT SIGNS NEW TARIFF BILL

And Measure Becomes a National Law.

SIX MONTHS WORK IS ENDED

Very Solemn Scenes Attend
Crowning Event At the White House.

THE CURRENCY BILL IS NEXT

Washington, Oct. 3. With solemn pride the President signed the Tariff Bill to-night, and the leaders of the Democratic watched him pin the future of the party upon his signature. For according to the success of the measure the Democratic party, as at present led and consolidated, will stand or fall, and those in the little room knew it. If the tariff law realizes the hopes of its creators the party's domination will endure; and if those hopes are blasted democracy is doomed, too.

Such thoughts being uppermost, it was an impressive ceremony in the President's room of the executive office suite at 3:10 o'clock to-night. By Woodrow Wilson's act the Democratic party became for the first time in recent years an administrative party, and on his pen stroke what had been a proposed bill became the law of the land. After the President's hand had guided the point to its final flourish, great ships that reached our ports from foreign lands and trails that crossed our borders passed under a new taxing system, as different from the one heretofore existing as day is from night.

After the President had signed he made a little speech. It will go down in history as a classic. The President spoke in a low voice, of even modulation, but everyone in the room heard him, and everyone was gripped by the intensity, the pride, the hope and the solemnity that rang in his tones. He said he had assisted in doing the thing he had dreamed of since boyhood—exending the burden of taxation and helping to make business free.

"It is a solemn moment for me," said the President. "Democracy now rests in the pleasant inn, half-way toward the summit of achievement, and when the Currency Bill is passed, the summit will be gained. That is what the country is waiting for," he told the distinguished men who were gathered about him, and he said he has the utmost confidence that the Senate will do what the nation is expecting, and pass the companion measure to the Tariff bill within a reasonably short time.

Three-fourths of the President's speech dealt with the making of the currency with the tariff. Both are necessary, he said, to make business free and relieve the burdens of the people, and the Democratic party has consecrated itself to that dual end.

The political significance of this portion of the President's speech sank in upon his audience. All felt the firm hand behind the noble language. All knew, whatever their views about the need of immediate currency revision, that Woodrow Wilson means to have it, that he believes the nation requires and expects it, and that he will not rest content until he lies in the limo at the very summit of the party's achievement.

Paragraphs From Wilson's Speech
I feel to-night like a man who is lodged happily in the inn which lies half way on the journey to the summit of achievement.

I feel a profound gratitude in having had part in serving the people of this country as we have been striving to serve them ever since I can remember.

If it be a sin to covet honor, then I am the most offending soul alive; and I do not covet it for myself alone.

I have had the accomplishment of something like this at heart ever since I was a boy.

We have set the business of this country free from those conditions which have made monopoly possible, and in a sense easy and natural.

There is no use taking away the conditions of monopoly if we do not also take away the power to create monopoly.

The power to control and guide and direct the energies of the country is the power to say who shall and shall not build up the industries of the country.

We are about to take the final step in setting the business of the country free. That is what we shall do in the Currency Bill.

CONVICT SHOT AFTER ASSAULTING FOREMAN

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 4.—C. T. Jones, inmate in the Kentucky Whip and Collar Company at the penitentiary, yesterday shot Claude Segregues, an inmate convict, who was attacking his life with a knife. Jones had reported Segregues to the guard for cursing him and some time afterward Segregues, who ran a machine, ran on behind him with a knife in his hand. As Jones wheeled to protect himself he saw Segregues coming at him with a drawn knife and pulled his revolver and "hot down through the floor to stop him, and when that failed shot him through the left shoulder. The wound is a bad one as the bullet grazed toward the heart, and it is feared it will result fatally.

Warden Adolph C. Clifton took the convict to the infirmary. Segregues, one of the most hardened criminals with whom he has had to do. Only yesterday a knife was taken away from Segregues by Capt. James Block, of the death house. It is said that Segregues had said that he would kill Jones at the first opportunity.

Segregues is from Louisa, Lawrence county, and is serving a life sentence, having been convicted three times. He is 22 years old.

REVOLT IN PHILIPPINES AT PRESENT IMMINENT

Washington, Oct. 6.—A revolt in the Philippines unless there is some declaration soon of the United States' purpose to confer independence upon the islands, is predicted in the report of Major Randolph, director of the Philippine constabulary, was announced to-day. The report says the Filipinos want freedom and there are many rumors of an uprising about.

The House to-day received the statement from former Governor General Forbes, of the Philippines, replying to charges of Representative Jones that his administration was inefficient and recklessly extravagant. Forbes accused Jones of malicious and reckless slander.

HOBBLE SKIRT SAVED YOUNG WOMAN'S LIFE

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 4.—"I'm going to keep that skirt and show it to my children, when I get married. It saved my life," said pretty Mary Kwiatnick, 18 years old, who was shot at by a jealous lover, Michael Prodanovitch, 21 years old, Thursday night.

The girl turned as she saw the revolver pointed at her. Her narrow skirt tripped her and she fell. The bullet grazed the top of her head, passing through the hair. If she had not fallen, she would have been killed.

The shooting took place near the girl's home, 300 Grove street, when the girl refused to become engaged to her assailant. The couple have known each other four months.

Prodanovitch is charged with assault with intent to kill.

CONDITION OF STATE TREASURY SEPTEMBER 30

CONFEDERACY OF MEXICAN STATES

The Latest Development
In War Zone.

DESTINY OF THE NEW GROUP

Will Be Placed In Hands Of Carranza, Whose Wife
Upholds Him.

AMERICANS SUPPORT REBELS

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 30.—Five northern States of Mexico have decided to secede from the Federal Government and form what is to be known as the Confederate States of Mexico.

This step was taken at Hermosillo, where officials of the five States had gathered to discuss the coming election, and try to arrange some plan whereby they could be separated from the administration at Mexico City.

The five States whose representatives agreed to the secession plans are Sonora, Durango, Chihuahua, Sinaloa and Chihuahua. Only the rebel State Government in Chihuahua joined in the movement.

Venustiano Carranza is to be President of the new Confederacy and his Cabinet will be composed of General Angeles, a former Federal commander, as Minister of War; Augustin Labasset, Minister of Hacienda; and Juan Sanchez Azcona, Minister of Foreign Relations.

Eduardo Hay, it is said, also will be given a place in the Cabinet.

Lower California is not included in the new government, as its promoters say the revolution has not succeeded there.

Escape of Mrs. Carranza.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Ramon Carranza, wife of the probable President of the five Mexican States that have seceded a refugee from her native country, was in Grand Forks to-day.

She was accompanied by her daughters, Lillian, 22 years old, and Mabel, 18 years old, and her son Ramon, 4 years old. With them is Robert T. Anderson, an American soldier of fortune, the son of a Pittsburg clerkman, and fiancé of the daughter, Lillian. They left for Winnipeg, Man., to-night and will remain in Canada until Mexico's troubles are ended.

As her husband was a rebel sympathizer, Mrs. Carranza and her daughters were subjected to insults at the hands of enemies, and finally the condition became so unbearable that they were compelled to leave.

To make her escape Mrs. Carranza and her daughters walked 247 miles from Hermosillo, in the State of Sonora, to El Paso, Texas. Colonel King Stanley, an American, who has allied himself with the rebels, was at the head of the body of men that escorted her to the border.

Their trip through Juarez was fraught with dangers and hardships, and as soon as she reached the United States Mrs. Carranza came northward by easy stages, resting up after her perilous flight.

When shown dispatches indicating that her husband probably would be chosen President of the seceding States, Mrs. Carranza declared she would support the idea and though evidently thoroughly familiar with the great danger in which her husband placed himself by accepting the office, she was confident that he would do so should secession be perfected.

For years, she declares, her husband has been with the rebels, and she contends that their fight is largely against the peonage system of Mexico. In which the better citizens have taken up the cause of the peons.

Robert Anderson, two years ago was arrested and sentenced to be hanged because of his association with the Carranza family. It was the United States Government that intervened in his behalf, and the night before his death sentence was to have been executed he was freed. For nine months he was in a Mexican jail.

Previous to that time Anderson had been operating a hotel.

Anderson expects to place information before the proper congressional committee relative to a telegram alleged to have been received by him over the signature of Henry Lane Wilson, Ambassador. The message was in response to a plea for help, which was refused, with the tart advice to "Get out of the country if you don't like it."

Anderson declares that Americans in the Sonora district are largely in sympathy with the rebel forces, believing that their fight is one for justice.

PARENTAGE INCUBATOR

BABY BEING TRIED OUT

Washington, Oct. 2.—One of the unique cases to come before the Supreme Court during the session which begins in a few days is one in which the court will be called upon to determine the parentage of the "incubator baby" viewed by thousands at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis.

Mrs. Leslie Bleakley, of Topeka, Kas., claims to be the mother of the little two-pound mite which was placed in the World's Fair incubator. She has fought in the courts of Illinois and Kansas for possession of the girl, now nine years old, and appears now before the court as a prosecuting witness against a detective who is charged with having kidnapped the girl from her home.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Barclay, of Douglas county, Ill., claim the child as an adopted daughter. Barclay, who was an employee as the fair grounds, watched the baby grow in its little glass case. The Barclays declare investigation shows Mrs. Bleakley is mistaken about being the mother of the child. They claim that her child died a few days after it was born.

OWENSBORO BOY ENDS LIFE AT CANDY STORE

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 2.—Norman Gillison, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gillison, committed suicide at 9 o'clock to-night by taking a quantity of strychnine tablets in a candy shop at the Empress Theater on Frederick street. The boy had been reprimanded for not attending school. He brooded over the matter and went to a drug store where he formerly worked, and while the proprietor was in another part of the store, took the tablets from a box.

He then went to the telephone at the candy store and talked for a few moments. It is not known to whom he talked. He asked for a drink of water and then swallowed the poison. He told a young man to call a doctor. He fell to the floor in convulsions. He was taken to the city hospital, but died before a stomach pump could be used.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES NOW ON

In the World's Series Of Baseball Events.

BOX SEATING FOUR IS $25

National Commission Gets 10
Per Cent; Players, Team
Owners Balance.

EVERY DAY UNTIL DECISION

New York, Oct. 4.—Every one of the multitude of details of the campaign of 1913 between the New York Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans for the world's baseball championship has been prearranged. Here are the chief plans:

Time, October 7, and daily thereafter, except Sunday until one club shall have won four games.

Place, Polo grounds, New York, Shibe park, Philadelphia.

First game to be played in New York, the games thereafter to alternate between Philadelphia and New York.

The games to be played off the next day in the other city from that in which the tie occurred. Thus, if the first game in New York were to result in a tie the game would be played off in Philadelphia the next day, October 8.

Sale of tickets to be conducted under the auspices of the two clubs concerned. Unreserved seats will be sold at the Polo grounds and Shibe park on the day of the game; reserved seats must be purchased for three games, whether bought in New York or Philadelphia, and if three games are not played, the proportionate amount of the purchase price will be refunded. No mail orders will be accepted for reserved seats.

Price of tickets, in New York, boxes, seating four, $25; upper grand stand, $2; lower grand stand, $2; bleachers, $1. In Philadelphia, box seats, $5; main grand stand, $2; right and left pavilions, $2; bleachers, $1.

Seating arrangements. Polo grounds, 23,000 reserved seats, 15,000 in bleachers; Shibe park, grand stand and bleachers, 21,000, standing room for about 3,000 more. Neither club will be permitted to erect extra stands on the field. No spectators will be allowed to overflow on the field.

Time of games, 2 o'clock. Umpires for the series, William Klem and Charles Rigler, of the National league; Thomas H. Connolly and John J. Egan, of the American league.

Number of players eligible, 25 on each team.

Names of eligible players. New York—Burns, Cooper, Crandall, Foyle, Demaree, Fletcher, Fromme, Grant, Herzog, Hartley, Marquard, Wiltse, Mathewson, Murray, Meyers, McLean, Morkle, Robinson, McCormick, Shafer, Snodgrass, Thorpe, Tesreau, Wilson, Schupp, Philadelphia—Schanz, Lapp, Thomas, Bender, Plank, Dombos, Houck, Brown, Shawkey, Pinnock, Bush, Wyckoff, McInnis, Collins, Barry, Baker, Orr, Davis, Lavan, Oldring, Strunk, E. Murphy, D. Murphy, Walsh, Daley.

In the event of a seventh game being necessary, the city for holding it will be determined by the toss of a coin. In case a game is postponed on account of rain or if for some other cause a legal game is not played, the teams will remain in the city where the postponement occurred until a legal game is played. This does not, of course, apply to the games.

According to the rules governing the world's series the National commission will receive 10 per cent. of the gate receipts of each and every game. The players of the two competing clubs will take 50 per cent. of the remaining 50 per cent. of the first four games, the amount to be divided on a basis of 50 per cent. to the winners and 40 per cent. to the losers. The remaining 40 per cent. of the 50 per cent. goes to the club owners. Ninety per cent. of the gate receipts of each and every game after the first four becomes the property of the stockholders of the two contesting clubs.

MORMON MISSIONARY ASSAULTED AND SHOT

Brownsville, Ky., Oct. 4.—Hollie Graham, 19, is under arrest here charged with shooting and wounding with intent to kill, Elder Styler, Mormon missionary, has been conducting a meeting at Wingfield schoolhouse, near Chamellon Springs, at night. On Sunday night, while engaged in church service, young Graham is charged with shooting into the church house with a pistol, the ball striking Elder Styler on the right arm, making a flesh wound. The ball was removed by the assistance of those in the congregation and Elder Styler continued the church service as though nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

A few weeks ago Elder Styler was assaulted at Bee Springs with stones thrown through the windows of the church. Styler will take back with him to his Utah home the stone with which he was assaulted at Bee Springs and the pistol ball with which he was shot at Wingfield schoolhouse as mementos of his missionary work for the Mormon Church in Kentucky.

AGED INSANE PATIENT'S DEATH DUE TO FLOGGING

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 4.—Blows dealt Carl G. Holst, of Paxton, Ill., an insane patient 78 years old, so that he suffered six broken ribs and later died, were the methods employed to keep him in bed at the Kankakee State Hospital for the Insane, according to a confession made to-day by William Wolfe, a former hospital attendant.

Wolfe is under arrest charged with murder. He implicated John Mahan, a hospital employee, who also was arrested, and another former employee who has not been apprehended.

Holst died in a hospital last March.

Wolfe's confession was made to State's Attorney W. H. Dyer. Since his arrest Wolfe, who came from Nashville, N. C., has been in jail unable to furnish bond.

MOTOR HEARSE MAKING

TRIP ACROSS COUNTRY

Carries Body Of San Diego Business Man Who Made a

Strange Request.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 2.—A motor hearse, carrying a corpse from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast, arrived here to-day and attracted much attention on the city streets. The hearse, which bore the body of Michael Moran, a former business man of San Diego, started from that city August 28, and is due to arrive at Brooklyn, N. Y., Saturday.

It was Mr. Moran's dying wish that his body be transported in this manner across the continent. In his lifetime he had been an automobile enthusiast, and before his death he asked his friends to make arrangements for his last automobile journey.

The motor car is equipped with a forty-five-horsepower engine, and its gross weight is 6,150 pounds. W. A. Peck, representative of the factory which makes the motor hearse, was the passenger on the seat with the chauffeur, B. F. Mayor.

On arrival of the car here the body was taken to an undertaking establishment, remaining there for several hours, while the two men accompanying it had breakfast and arranged to continue their journey. A death certificate on the coffin says Mr. Moran was 49 years old, and that he died from pulmonary tuberculosis August 23, 1913.

Moran formerly lived at Brooklyn and it is there the body will be buried. The party has traveled 3,200 miles and has 1,200 miles yet to traverse.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia, use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.

Had to Eat Lunch.

Greenberg had taken out an insurance policy on his stock of goods, and three hours later a fire broke out which consumed building and contents. The company could find no ground on which to refuse payment, but in sending the check the following was included in the letter: "We note that your policy was issued at noon on Tuesday and the fire did not take place till 3 o'clock the same day. Why this delay?" —[New York American.]

HOME-BREAKING IS MADE AN ART

By Beautiful Blonde Of Winning Ways.

PAVES THE WAY FOR DIVORCE

And Seems To Think That Hers Is Perfectly Legitimate Business.

JUST PRYING PARTIES APART

"For $5,000 I will win your husband's affections and furnish you with adequate grounds upon which to obtain an immediate divorce. I shall telephone you at 2 o'clock Saturday."

The big blue eyes of a pretty young matron of Altdens opened wide in amazement when she read this typewritten, unsigned note.

Furious, she tore the note to bits. But curiosity gained the upper hand, and with the approval of her husband she made a telephone appointment, and in the resultant interview with a strikingly handsome young woman, brought to light America's latest profession—home-smashing for financial gain.

"This horrid person, who laughingly told me her name didn't matter, but that Isabella Montmorency or just plain Lizzie O'Toole would do as well as any if I must use a handle, said she thought I probably was ready for a divorce. In view of the fact that I had a fortune in my own name and my husband was poor when I married him five years ago," said the young matron.

"She went on to explain, in a business like way, that she had made her living for four years by coming between husband and wife at the request of the latter, when such request was backed by a sum of money sufficiently large.

"Her system was to be taken into the home as a good friend of the wife, and the rest was easy, to use her words. She had found, she told me, that in the big majority of cases where rich women marry poor men the money half of the combination is ready for a divorce anywhere from a few months to a few years, and admitted her assumption that I might come under this general classification was based on the law of averages and nothing else.

"Horrid creature!"

"I must say she took it very sweetly, though—begged my pardon for having made the mistake, and congratulated me upon the fact that we were so happily married.

"She seemed to think she was engaged in a perfectly legitimate business. She thought matrimonial grafters were even worse than political grafters, and that 'merely prying them loose from an easy living' wasn't half punishment enough. Really, she was so nice about it and talked so convincingly that I almost came to like her before our interview ended.

"I should say the woman is about 25 years old. She is a blonde, with

J. C. Weatherholt, grocer, Cloverport, Ky., says: "Two years ago I had little idea that I would ever be well again. In fact, I had settled up my affairs, believing that it would be impossible for me to last a great while longer. The pain in my back was terrible, especially when I stooped. It seemed as if someone had run a knife into me. My heart action was irregular. I became dizzy and often had to catch hold of something to keep from falling. My knee joints were swollen to twice their normal size. I had lost weight until I was a skeleton. The kidney secretions contained sediment and the passages were painful. Doctor's medicine did me no good, neither did the so-called kidney cures I took. A friend had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills and on his advice, I decided to try them. I was surprised and delighted with the results of their use. I was cured."

TICKLED, HE CUTS OFF
FEATHER ON HER HAT

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 4.—A middle-aged man outran several hundred persons in Madisonville, a suburb, yesterday afternoon. Had it not been for his ability to elude the angry citizens he might have been roughly handled.

The story is to the effect that the unidentified man was a passenger in a street car, just in the rear of the seat occupied by Miss Etale Holmes, 19, on her way to attend a performance at a local theater.

The feather in Miss Holmes' hat tickled the chin of the man. The stranger stood for it some time, then he opened a penknife and cut off the offending feather.

Another male passenger resented his action, and the man leaped from the car, followed by a score of angry pursuers.

LOOK BEFORE YOU BUY A SASKATCHEWAN FARM

Canadian Land Not Always What
It Is Advertised
To Be.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor writes the following warning to American investors proposing to put their money into Saskatchewan farms. The writer of the letter, John D. Stewart, went to Canada from Iowa. The editor of Farm and Fireside says that the value in Mr. Stewart's contribution lies in the fact that it brings out again the old truth that the farm across the road looks far more prosperous than ours until we know that farm. Mr. Stewart says:

"Some of the necessities for the farmer in Saskatchewan are high here. We cannot borrow money at present, but last year the bank charged ten per cent., and wouldn't loan longer than three months at a time. The land companies bring in people from the United States and charge them from six to ten dollars per acre more than they could get in the States. I paid $22, per acre, and I could have got land just as good for $14 an acre.

"In some places the land is very stony. The stones are just under the surface, and one cannot see them easily, but when plowing is started the stones are very much in evidence. Then, too, the land companies tell the Americans they can raise flax on the new breaking. Most of them try it, and fail. I have seen a great deal of this in this way, but have never seen any cut.

"I came in here from Iowa, and although I expect to try and make it pay out, there are lots of Americans here, and they are all dissatisfied. But when someone talks of reporting the true conditions here, most of them say, 'Don't say anything until you get rid of your land.' And we can't do that at the price we paid for it.

"I wouldn't advise anyone to leave Iowa or any good farming locality to come here, even if I do have land for sale. Many of the farmers here are in debt for more than they are worth."

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Hastings, of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers. And There Are Others.

She was on her first one-night stand tour. Alighting from the train, she accosted the first native of the village she met.

"Will you direct me to the best hotel in town?" she sweetly inquired.

The native shifted the cud of tobacco which he was protecting.

"Yes'm, I can tell you," he replied, "but I'd rather not."

"But why?"

"Because after I tell you and you go there," was his reply. "You'll think I am a liar."

DIAZ SEES NO SIGNS OF WAR

Between Mexico and the United States.

HE WILL NOT RETURN HOME

Because Only Foreign Invasion
Would Call Him—
Not Likely.

WILL STAY IN EUROPE AWHILE

Santander, Spain, Oct. 2.—Porfirio Diaz, who came here with his wife to bid farewell to his daughter, Dona Amanda, who sailed in the Espagne for Vera Cruz, gave the following statement to a correspondent to-day: "I don't purpose returning to Mexico unless under one condition, that is, in case of foreign invasion. Then I should feel compelled to do so, but unless that event comes about I shall respect all that the constitutional Government may undertake to do.

"I might have stifled the Madero rebellion but refrained from doing so because it would have meant that the civil war probably would be indefinitely prolonged.

"I fear even now that order will not be restored soon, because most of the revolutionists simply are bandits in disguise who take the field in the hope of living by pillage and robbery. To end this state of things and bring matters to a normal condition, it may be necessary to pass a law such as I made while President.

"I do not consider that there exists any likelihood of serious rupture between the United States and Mexico."

Speaking subsequently at a banquet in the Miramar restaurant tendered him by the Mexican colony, Diaz, replying to a toast to his health proposed by the Mexican Vice-Consul, who described him as the best President who ever governed the republic, said:

"Not the best, for that would be forgetting Juarez, my master. He was the reformer, and I only carried out his ideas. I have been an ardent patriot and my greatest pride is that I shed my blood in the defense of Mexico and would gladly do so again if circumstances rendered it needful."

Diaz stated that he would remain in Europe for the present, probably in France, though he will occasionally visit Spain, where he has many friends, and recently, as stated in the press, obtained the permission of the Spanish Government to reside in Madrid.

THIS CASE PRESENTS A WARNING TO LYNCHERS

Something remarkable has happened in South Carolina. A negro who was charged with attempted criminal assault on a white woman has been given a trial and acquitted by a jury of twelve white men.

And this was the negro whom a mob tried to lynch a few weeks ago, the cool courage of the sheriff alone preventing them from taking the prisoner from the jail. The mob blew down a part of the jail with dynamite, and the Governor refused to call out the militia because he assumed the guilt of a man who had not yet been tried. But the sheriff, with great heroism, stood off the lynchers, and the trial has proved to the satisfaction of twelve white

South Carolinians that the negro was innocent.

The white woman in the case, it was clearly proved, was in that condition and frame of mind peculiar to her sex at times when she imagined and feared things in the absence of any real danger.

Now when a South Carolina jury acquits a negro accused of assaulting a white woman it is pretty safe for the rest of us to conclude that there can be no doubt of his innocence. No sentimental appeal can be successfully made to twelve white men in favor of a negro who may reasonably be suspected of that offense. Yet a negro whom a mob sought to lynch and whom Governor Cole Blaise, when appealed to by the faithful sheriff who stood off the mob, failed to protect, has been acquitted.

There is a warning in this case for lynchers. If this South Carolina mob had not been intimidated by the brave sheriff, who, when the inner door of the jail was reached, gave warning "I'll kill the first man who enters that door," an innocent man would have been lynched.—[Albany (Ga.) Herald.]

FLAGRANT IMPOSITIONS ON SCHOOL OF REFORM

Are Cited By State Board Chairman—A Bad State of Affairs.

The chairman of the State Board of Prison Commissioners, Mr. O'Sullivan, calls attention, pointedly, to a gross abuse, in explaining the return of 100 children to the counties from which they were sent, saying:

"The crowded condition of the reform school required immediate relief. In paroling 100 children the Board carried out a plan it has had in mind for some time for returning to their homes the hundreds of little children who are being sent by the various county judges to the House of Reform. It is a scandalous state of affairs and reflects discredit on the officials of many counties, and on the parents who thus try to shift on the commonwealth the burden of caring for their unfortunate little ones. In one case a child of six years was committed to the reform school, charged with 'burglary.' Many boys and girls, eight, ten and twelve years old, are confined there. In nearly every instance they are charged with 'immorality' or 'immorality.' Often two and three from a family are found, the parents seemingly glad to get rid of them.

"The house of reform is no place for these infants. The law never contemplated that this institution should be used as a dumping ground for the pauper children of the State. As fast as they are sent to the school the board will return them. Complaint has repeatedly been made to the county judges of the imposition practiced on the school and the commonwealth, but a few only of them have joined hands with the Board of Prison Commissioners in remedying the evil."

There were many pretty chickens (Ohio county product) on exhibition at the recent fair here. But they were not in coops.

Some judges are now putting the alimony on the woman in the case. A few more instances like this would call a halt to many divorce cases which are brought purely for mercenary purposes.

Louisville, Ky., is a great city for conventions, public gatherings and other crowd-drawing events. These affairs bring much popularity and business to the Falls City. They also show what a good Commercial Club (such as Louisville has) can do in this respect.

The setting aside of October 24 and 25 (Friday and Saturday) by Gov. McCreary as "good roads" days for the purpose of working and improving the county thoroughfares of the State, is a commendable idea and worthy of observation throughout the Commonwealth. It is a new movement in this State, but its good intention should make it an annual event.

It is less than one month now until the election. Now is the time for all Democrats to put forth extra effort for the success of the party ticket. Here in Ohio county we have a ticket of clean, able men, abundantly qualified for the positions which they seek. No loyal Democrat can afford not to support them. Ohio county, by a decisive vote, should fall in line with the State and Nation—Democratic to the core.

The new tariff bill, although originating and promulgated under Democratic auspices, was supported and endorsed by both Democrats and Republicans in Congress. It was so fair towards all concerned and so worthy in its inception and meaning that a number of Republicans could not refrain from endorsing it. Any Republican who "kicks" on it is in opposition to some of the best brains of his party colleagues.

Bad roads and illiteracy go hand-in-hand. There can hardly be any argument on this matter from any reasoning person. The bad roads section of the country is where the children cannot go to school on account of the mud, and consequently they grow up uneducated and illiterate. This of itself should make everybody in favor of good roads. When combined with the deterioration of land values and the loss in crop sales, it presents the most important question before Kentuckians to-day.

On the third page of The Herald to-day is a short account of a farmer who left Iowa and went to Canada to live, along with other farmers of the United States who have been lured to the Saskatchewan country by the inducements of immigration agents. It's the same old story, but unfortunately many Americans fail to heed it. He found farming conditions a big disappointment. In most cases, if farmers would put forth the same effort here that they have to there, the result would be staying just where they are.

The Hartford Republican still declines to put the alleged county "Republican" ticket at the head of its editorial columns and offers as an excuse that the Courier-Journal does not do this for its party nominees. Of course not. The Democratic ticket of Jefferson county occupies a column of space and it is not the custom of big daily papers to do this. The Hartford Republican has never before refused to exit its party ticket, and its present lukewarm support is a matter of general comment. We do not blame it, however, and few others do.

Some time ago (it matters nothing as to date) there appeared in our town a phrenologist who gave a public exhibition of his science. The speaker was a man of eminent station in life and the dean of an old-established college. He had four or five skulls of well known criminals and illustrated how the shapes of these skulls were characteristic of a criminal tendency. Evidently, according to his theory, these people were predestined to crime from their births. And yet, from the standpoint of strict justice, were they so much to blame for their evil deeds in life? Truly, the mysteries of life are often dumbfounding.

The Hartford Republican attacks the City Council of Hartford, simply, as it says, because every member is a Democrat and because said council has enacted an ordinance creating a local "tariff tax" of $2.50 per day for outside meat peddlers in Hartford. Our contemporary wants to know if we are in favor of said tax. No—not any more than we are in favor of a national protective tariff of like nature. But the Hartford Republican should be heartily in favor of it, as it seems to simply exemplify its pet but ancient policy of protection for "infant" industries.

Now that the new tariff measure, originating and adopted under a Democratic administration, is in effect, you must be ready for the tariff knocker with his little hammer. He is usually of the type of fellow who has always believed in a "protective" tariff for "infant" industries. Democrats everywhere will be asked the foolish question of "how they are getting along under the new tariff." Of course most people know it will be months before the beneficial effects of this new law will be felt, in a general way, but that does not affect the mental vision of the tariff knocker.

THE END OF EXPORTATION MEANT NEW TARIFF BILL.

When the Tariff Bill as agreed upon by the conference committee of the two branches of Congress was reported to the House yesterday a great and patriotic task was virtually completed. A memorable record was made. A precedent never to be forgotten was established.

For the first time since the Civil War an honest general revision of the tariff downward, often promised by leading men of all parties, had been agreed upon. For the first time since protection for monopoly's sake had become an institution seemingly invincible, greed and corruption had been met on their own ground and vanquished. For the first time since public plunderers sought refuge in the United States Senate a tariff measure emerged from that body fairer and wiser and lower than it was received from the House.

The new tariff defeats not only the organized rapacity of those who have long controlled such enactments; it overcomes also the threats of the panic-breeders and the falsehoods of the hired claqueurs who for a generation or more terrorized people and Congress. It becomes a law with Republican as well as Democratic support. It is welcomed even by the interests which for years blundered those who suggested a similar enactment. — [New York World.]

ROUND UP LAST OF DYNAMITERS

Alleged Confession Of Man Implicated

IN MANY MURDEROUS PLOTS

Asserts Conspiracy Thought to Have Been Broken Up Still Exists.

CONVICTED MEN IMPLICATED

New York, Oct. 2.—Dynamite outrages that rivaled the exploits of the McManis brothers and of Orle McManigal were confessed to-day by George E. Davis, a union iron worker.

Davis, who was arrested here to-day, was the George O'Donnell who figured in the trial at Indianapolis that resulted in the conviction of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and thirty-seven of his associates. His arrest and its consequences round up the work the Federal Government started more than two years ago when the dynamiting of bridges and steel frame buildings all over the country became a national scandal.

All the explosions that Davis says he caused were touched on and testified to at the dynamiters' trial in Indianapolis, but the fact that Davis caused them remained unrevealed until he himself told of it to-day.

Davis' confession resulted to-day in the arrest in Indianapolis of Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the iron workers' union. His confession supplements the evidence presented at the Indianapolis trial and makes fresh charges against some of the men there convicted and now in prison. Some of his revelations concern President Ryan, who is out on bail pending appeal from a prison sentence of seven years.

Davis says he was the man chosen to kill Walter Drew, attorney for the National Erectors' Association, in December, 1911, after Drew was charged with kidnaping John J. McManis. It was suggested also that he try to "get" William J. Burns, the detective employed by Drew and his associates to unearth the dynamite conspiracy. The price on Drew's head at that time, Davis said, was $5,000.

"I told them," his confession continues, "that I didn't want to mix up in such business."

Davis consented to return to Indianapolis without extradition and left for there this evening. His bail was fixed at $10,000.

The conspiracy thought to have been broken up by the conviction of Ryan and others still exists, according to Davis' confession. With the exception of Harry Jones the men he mentions in connection with his various dynamite jobs already have been arrested, although his confession indicated that the Government had not obtained all the incriminating evidence against these defendants when they were tried at Indianapolis.

The apprehension of this McManigal of the East was due to Robert Foster, a Louisville detective, who shadowed the iron worker through Eastern cities. Finally, several weeks ago, when Davis was displeased with his treatment by the union, Foster persuaded him to make a full confession.

This was on Sept. 16. For a week Davis had been working in Pittsburgh for the Thompson-Starrett Company. Then the local delegate of the iron workers' union told him he must pay a $28 initiation fee to the local union or quit work. Davis quit. The detective told him that he knew all about his deeds, anyway, and Davis, feeling that the union had deserted him, accompanied Foster to New York. Here in the presence of the representatives of the Federal District Attorney and the National Erectors' Association, he dictated and swore to the long detailed confession which was given out by the district attorney's office to-day.

Davis said he had been an iron worker since 1900 and had been employed at Denver, Pueblo, St. Louis, New York, Washington, Providence, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Birmingham. In the early days of the troubles between the union and the bridge builders he was a member of the entertainment committee whose duty it was to assault non-union workers. He began his career as a dynamiter at Trenton, N. J.

LIFE TERM IN PRISON FOR OKLAHOMA WOMAN

Hartsville, Okla., Oct. 4.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Laura M. Reuter, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, a prominent attorney at Tulsa, Okla., last year, returned a verdict of guilty at 11:30 o'clock to-day. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Mrs. Reuter was wholly unprepared for the verdict. She confidently expected acquittal and when she realized the full import of the jury's decision, she fell in a swoon. Her two little children, listening to her hysterical weeping, pleaded with Mrs. Reuter's friends to take her back to their home in Tulsa.

Charles Reuter, husband of the defendant, was slain in his bedroom on the night of May 5, 1912. Joe Baker and Guy McKenzie are serving life terms for the killing.

Mrs. Reuter is alleged to have been in love with McKenzie.

SETS APART TWO DAYS TO WORK COUNTY ROADS

Gov. McCreary Issues Proclamation For Betterment of Highways.

Gov. McCreary has issued a proclamation, calling upon the people in every county of the State of Kentucky to work on the roads in their respective counties on Friday and Saturday, October 24 and 25, commencing in the morning at 8 o'clock each day and continuing until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The County Judge and Engineer of each county are directed to aid the people in complying with this request, and they are authorized to select such persons as may be needed to assist. In every county where there is no Engineer or where they fail to act, the Sheriff or other persons are authorized to organize and comply with this proclamation.

The Governor says: "Good roads facilitate the labor of farmers in bringing their products to market, and increase the benefits of rural education by providing means by which the children of the State can go regularly to school, and furnish a better and easier way to go to church, and greatly enhance the value of farm lands. This proclamation refers to dirt roads, turnpikes and gravel roads. As Kentucky always takes the lead and as Kentuckians desire the betterment of our highways, they should come forward with enthusiasm and energy and show the people of other States that they can equal or surpass them in the improvements of their roads."

A Card From Mr. Davis.
Being the Socialist nominee for County Court Clerk, I take this method of introducing my policy to the voters of Ohio county.

We can never have first-class roads so long as our county is shadowed by a $40,000 debt. In order to blot this debt out, I will fill said office for $1,800 a year and give back to the county all above that sum. All that I ask of you is to come and hear me at the places named below. I ask those who will not hear me, to consider two things: the first is my proposition, the second is your county's welfare.

Yours truly,
R. S. DAVIS.

Much Ado About Nothing.
Carlisle, Ky., Oct. 4.—Controversy over a line which involved in dispute a piece of land consisting of one-sixth of an acre, said to be worth about $1, caused a suit between P. H. Harney and Frank Teel, two Nicholas county farmers, which has just been decided here, the court establishing a line at a different place than that claimed by either party.

Already it is said that the cost in the suit amounts to about $150 and it may now go to the Court of Appeals.

Those present were: Misses Fay Stoy McCall, of Leitchfield, Bettie Riley, Corinne Flener, Maurine Martin, Bessie Taylor, Nancy Ford, Beatrice Haynes; Messrs. Allison Barnett, J. W. Marks, McDowell Fogle, Ross Taylor, Raymer Tinsley and Will Riley.

SCRAP OVER CHICKENS RESULTS SERIOUSLY

The Owensboro Inquirer says: Polk Parker, an aged farmer residing in the Reeds neighborhood, was seriously cut Saturday night by Granville Hodge when the two had a dispute over some chickens.

It seems that Parker, who resides on the farm of John Chentham, and on which farm he is overseer, drove some chickens belonging to Hodge which had been in the habit of feeding in the wheat fields, off the farm. Hodge took offense and went over to the house of Parker about 8 o'clock Saturday night and began a quarrel.

During the altercation Hodge jerked out a pocket knife and commenced carving on the old man. His son ran to the house and grabbed a pumpkin and returned to the yard but pumped the first shell, which happened to be the only one he had, out of the gun, and was unable to find it before Hodge had made his escape.

Parker is about 75 years old and he is in a very serious condition from loss of blood which he suffered before a doctor could be secured. The cuts were all on his face and arms, which he used in shielding himself, and unless complications arise he will recover.

Hodge has left the vicinity and has not yet been located.

FIRM OF C. P. BARNES & CO. GOES INTO BANKRUPTCY

The Louisville Herald of yesterday says:

Business circles were surprised yesterday when Wilton W. Pries, jeweler, doing business under the name of C. P. Barnes & Company, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy and was adjudged bankrupt in Federal Court yesterday. Liabilities amount to $13,541.35 according to the schedule filed with the petition. Assets consist of the stock of goods in the Louisville Trust Company Building, the value of which is not given. The firm is one of the old jewelry firms of Louisville.

Trury & Rony have closed a deal with James Hancock for the Sarvis Hill drilling outfit and will push the work of drilling in this well as speedily as possible.

At a meeting of the directors of the West Kentucky Oil Co. held in Hartford yesterday it was decided to start to drilling the well on the widow Allen farm just as soon as some slight repairs can be made on the boiler.

There is nothing at the various other wells now being operated and sunk. Everything is reported as getting along nicely.

QUININE IS USED AS A CURE FOR SICK HORSES

The Hawesville Clarion says: There is much complaint throughout the country in regard to some peculiar new disease that is proving fatal to horses and mules. Many have been afflicted and only a few have recovered. In the Dukes neighborhood, Will Clark lost a horse, and another died on Wednesday, which was the property of E. J. Snyder, of Midway. The latter, however, is believed to have died of colic. Squire E. H. Johnson had a fine animal afflicted with the new disease which caused it to go about spiritlessly and swell under the jaw and down under part of the neck. He tried the usual remedies for distemper and kindred disease, but without getting any good result. He then got four bottles of quinine and dissolved it in water and then using a long necked bottle, introduced the solution into the animal's nostrils. The treatment seemed to give relief at once and the male had been afflicted for three weeks got better and is now at work. Mr. Johnson is anxious for others to know of the treatment that he believes cured his animal.

IMMENSE ADVANTAGE OF GOOD ADVERTISING

The ordinary newspaper or periodical reader doesn't dream of the potency of good advertising. One of the largest, if not quite the largest, general advertiser in the United States is a manufacturer in the Philadelphia metropolitan district.

There is a never-ending race at that plant between the advertising department and the builders. The advertisers bring in so much business that the builders are kept busy enlarging the factory.

Something like $1,000,000 a year is spent in advertising this company's output, which is a luxury in every sense. At the present moment orders for new business are so far ahead of the capacity of the plant that it would seem a hopeless job ever to catch up. But the advertisers never relax.

The head of that great concern now knows almost better than anybody else that before you can reap a harvest you must first sow the seed. The advertisers are the chaps that are doing that. Philadelphia Ledger.

NOME BADLY RAVAGED BY STORM AND FIRE

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 6.—Fire has broken out in the storm-stricken city of Nome, and the flames have attacked the Pacific Cold Storage plant, where is stored the chief supply of meat for the winter. The fire apparatus was destroyed in the gale.

Front street is a seething mass of wreckage, into which seas are breaking, while hundreds of homeless persons are struggling to save the necessities of life. Receding seas are carrying away the contents of wrecked houses and stores, as well as parts of wrecked structures.

None of the buildings in the sandspit remains standing and the leveled structures there are in flames. This portion of the community is cut off by the turbulent waters.

SERIOUS WATER FAMINE NOW AT MADISONVILLE

Railroad and City Join in Shipping Water From Henderson.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 6.—Madisonville is facing the worst water famine just now in the history of the town, and unless heavy rains fall soon the chances are that the city light plant and water works will be compelled to close down. Three lakes in the city, the main source of supply for various industries, are practically dry. For a month the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company has been running two trains a day from Henderson, hauling twenty tank cars a trip to this city, the water to be used at the junction, half a mile north of the city, for watering engines, the large lake there having been exhausted. Last week the lake at the Sunset coal mines, the main supply for the city light plant and for two of the largest mines in the county, went dry, and water for both mines and the light company has since been shipped in here from Henderson at great expense. In a statement to-day one of the members of the Board of Public Works stated that at the present rate the city would be bankrupt and it was doubtful if the water shipments would be continued from Henderson unless the light patrons would consent to an increase in rates for the time being.

The Anderson lake, the source of the independent city water plant and the local ice plant, is practically dry, there remaining perhaps enough water to run the two for three weeks longer. A hard rain has not fallen here in six months, and it will take a "soaker" to replenish the three lakes. It looks now as if the city lights will soon be cut off.

Oct. 4.—School is progressing fine here under the management of Mr. Louie Owen. Attendance very good.

Mr. Al Patton, of Livermore, visited Esq. J. L. Patton and family from Monday until Thursday.

Miss Leathel Patton visited Miss Annie Patton, at Hartford, Friday and Saturday of last week and attended the fair.

Mr. Cleo Cambron, of Whitesville, has bought the store of Mr. Hoss Moseley and will move here in about two weeks. Mr. Moseley will go back to his farm at Owensboro, Ky.

Mr. Perry Sanderfur, Democratic candidate for County Attorney, spent Wednesday night with Mr. J. M. Ralph, Sr.

Mr. T. D. Benton, County Road Engineer, spent Wednesday night with Esq. J. L. Patton.

Mrs. B. P. Ralph, who has been sick for some time, is improving.

Master Everett Ralph, son of R. P. Ralph, while playing at school Wednesday, met with a severe accident. Being beside of a metal railing that had been placed on the school ground, the other children, not knowing he was in there, pulled the thing over and cut a severe gash in the side of his head.

FIVE BILLIONS FOR FARMERS

Products, 22 Per Cent.
Less Than 1912,

ARE WORTH 6 PER CENT. MORE

Agricultural Outcome Decidedly Beneficial, Taking Things As Whole.

COTTON CROP PROMISES WELL

With a total quantity of agricultural products 22 per cent. less than in 1912, the year's gross revenue for the farmers will be 6 per cent. more than last year, according to a bulletin issued yesterday by the Orange Judd Company, which publishes several agricultural papers. Total value will be $5,000,000,000, or $269,000,000 more than a year ago.

The reason for this extraordinary condition is, of course, the high prices per unit for several of the large cereal crops. Corn, for example, will show a total volume of 20 per cent. under that of 1912, but with a value 42 per cent. better will produce for the farmers $199,000,000 more than a year ago.

"The wealth the farmers will receive for their decreased tonnage," says the report, "also has these two decided advantages: Less labor and expense will be required for harvesting and marketing the crops this year, at a time when farm help is scarce and high.

"Only the decrease of about 50,000 tons in the weight of these staples will enable American railways to move the crops of 1913 without a veritable breakdown of the transportation system, in view of the heavy tonnage of other freight and of passenger traffic caused by the resumption of good times.

"The outcome of the agricultural season, therefore, is profoundly beneficial to industry, commerce and finance, taking the country as a whole, although certain individuals and limited sections have been hard hit by the drought.

"The shortage in new corn is not a disaster. It is a blessing in disguise. For with over 400,000,000 of old corn on hand October 1 the aggregate supply of maize this autumn will be some 2,500,000,000 bushels. This just about equals the corn supply following the harvest of 1911—only two years ago, when the yield was 2,550,000,000, and the supply of old corn was then only about one-fourth as large as now."

The wheat output will be the greatest in quantity and value in the country's history, and the value for potatoes, $224,000,000, $40,000,000 more than last year, breaks all records.

"Even more remarkable than the foregoing is the present promise of the cotton crop," continues the bulletin. "Although nearly a million bales less than last year's—a decrease of 5 per cent.—its price of around 14 cents per pound to the planter, will make the cotton crop worth the unprecedented aggregate of nearly $950,000,000.

"In other words, cotton growers will receive a total of around $125,000,000 more than last year, or a total increase of 22 per cent. This will be the greatest amount ever paid to planters in the history of the cotton industry."—[Chicago Tribune.

A SCHOOL FOR HANDICAPED—TRAIN ROBBERY TAUGHT

New Orleans, Oct. 3.—Clarence E. Boatwright, railroad clerk, formerly of Nashville, surrendered to the New Orleans police late last night, confessing that he was implicated in the attempt to hold up an L. and N. express train known to carry large sums to New York.

He implicated Alfred Emmett Oliver, railroad man. Oliver when arrested had a steel saw sewed in his belt, and admitted that he had tried to buy 40 pounds of dynamite here. He told a startling tale of being a pupil of a college for train robbers at Ludlow, Ky., taught by an ex-bandit and several yeggmen.

Oliver, it is said, told detectives that this school of crime was responsible for the Alabama Great Southern hold-up at Bibbsville by three youths. Detectives of the Southern Express Company are going to Ludlow to investigate the story.

The school for train robbers, Oliver said, is located at Ludlow, Ky. The head professor in the college of bandits is a former train robber, who made money enough to retire from the business. Practically all of the loot secured in train robberies is carried to Ludlow, where it is divided. The robberies are mapped out and carefully planned in the school at Ludlow by the head professor and his associates.

TABLES WERE TURNED ON A SARCASTIC POET

A smart Alce newspaper man, who probably was tickled to death to get a chance to peep at the things he was kicking about, published this in his paper:

"Backward, turn backward, oh Time, in your flight; give us a girl whose skirts are not tight; give us a girl whose charms many or few, are not too much exposed by a peek-a-booo; give us a girl, no matter what age, who won't use the streets as a vaudeville stage; give us a girl not too sharply in view; dress her in skirts that the sun can't shine through."

Whereupon one of his lady subscribers "came back" with the following, since which everything has been very quiet:

"Backward, turn backward, oh Time, in your flight; give us a man that never gets tight; give us a man no matter what age, who won't make the world a vaudeville stage; give us a man with fine manly face, who won't shed all his clothes when running a race; in playing baseball and basket ball game, give us a man that won't show all his frame; give us a man that has something to do besides watching us women—please, oh, please, do!"

Another Incompetent.

"Out of a job are you, Flaxby?"
 "Yes; they got my scalp finally."

"How long had you held that office?"

"About 30 years. And it's pretty tough at my age, to have to take up some new occupation to make a living."

"Haven't you got enough to live on?"

"I should say not!"

(Looking at him with disgust.)

"Flaxby, you make me tired! You're not fit to hold a public office!"

He Knew Her.

A ring at the telephone drew the office boy. "Lady to talk to you, sir," he said to the senior partner.

The senior partner took up the receiver, and stood at the phone for several minutes. Then he laid the receiver down, and went back to his desk. Twenty minutes later he raised the receiver, said a few words, and presently hung up. Then he turned to his partner. "It was my wife," he explained, "she was still talking and hadn't missed me."

MERIT WINS.

The following letter, written by Chattanooga's leading dealer in poultry supplies to the BLACK-MAN STOCK REMEDY COMPANY of that city, is worth considering by all other dealers and poultry raisers:

"For the last few years I have made a specialty of Poultry Remedies, supplies and feeds, handling the very best to be had, but have been selling yours exclusively since you began their manufacture a few months ago, and from actual tests by myself and several customers, I find yours far superior to all others I have ever sold.

"Your motto seems to be 'Honest goods and short profits,' which always wins out in the end."

SWEET POTATO WAFFLES.

Sweet Potato Pie—Roll four or five sweet potatoes until tender; line a baking pan with pastry dough made like any good short biscuit dough, and into this pan slice the potatoes; sweeten with sugar, and season with three or four lumps of butter with a little grated nutmeg; pour over the potatoes a cup of rich, sweet cream, and then put on a top crust, slit in the middle; pour over this two cups of boiling water and bake. Eat hot or cold, but hot is the usual way it is served.

Sweet Potato Cobbler—This is made very much as the above, only a deeper pan is used, and after putting in one layer of potatoes and seasoning, a cover crust is laid on, then another layer of potatoes and another thin crust; put this in the oven, and when about done, take out, lift the top crust and pour in sweet milk enough to make it juicy when done, spread butter over the top when replaced, sprinkle sugar over it, and bake very slowly until done through. The milk, butter and sugar should make all the sauce needed for the cobbler.

Apple Cream Pie, though not made of sweet potatoes, is a dish that every one likes. Stew and push through a sieve enough apples to make a large cupful; then add a cupful of cream and two beaten eggs with sweetening to taste. If the pie is wanted very thick, more of each ingredient. If these proportions should be used, but one egg is required for each cupful of the mixture. Top the pie with a thin crust, or pour over it a light batter and bake. When done, cover the top with a thick coating of whipped cream or meringue. Other fruits may be used for this pie. Any liked sauce may be used when serving.

A PANACEA FOR CRIME IS JUST COMMON WORK

The panacea for crime is work and plenty of it. When people work they have little time and less inclination for doing wrong.

"People are rarely more innocent employed," said Dr. Johnson, "than when they are earning money."

The chap who hopes to live by his wits—which means his ability to outwit somebody else—is good material for a counterfeiter. It is the woman who is poor and yet refuses honest employment who brings disgrace upon her sex.

A strike in any community invariably breeds petty crimes, because idle men are more apt to become vicious than the same men when doing a good day's work.

The countryman who follows a plow all day never robs a neighbor's hen roost. He wants rest and sleep at night. Locks are needed to keep out the rural loafers who sleep by day and scour the country at night.

If half the money that is spent in paying for crime of every sort were used in a campaign to induce all idlers to go to work, a whole lot of jail space would be permanently vacant.—[Philadelphia Ledger.

Thousands of other families have been equally benefited and depend entirely upon Dr. King's New Discovery to cure their colds, coughs, throat and lung troubles. Every dose helps. ciates. This is preliminary to the sinking of test wells. There is oil either in Posey county, Indiana, or in Henderson county, Ky., says Mr. Carroll, and he backs up his belief by leasing all of the land in the southwest part of the county. Arrangements have been made with drillers to start work at once. This field is about thirty miles from the Sebree field, in Webster county, which has attracted the attention of oil men and capitalists during the last sixty days. There is considerable excitement in the Smith Mills country. Mr. Carroll is paying cash for his leases.

FACTS ABOUT BABIES.

Some That Surprised and One That Placed the Professor.

"I never knew before I had one," said the professor of physics to his bachelor assistant. "Just how closely our science could be applied to a baby. I have been astounded at the following true conclusions:

"As two similar bodies vary in weight as the cubes of their dimensions, I find that a baby two feet long should weigh just about one-sixteenth of a man five feet high; also that, as the surfaces of two similar bodies vary as the square of their dimensions, a baby as before would have about one-sixth the surface of the man. So the extent of surface proportional to weight in the baby is vastly greater than in the adult. In fact, a square foot of the baby's skin would shield just one-third the substance of what a square foot would on an adult.

"Arguing from this and knowing that the rate of cooling of a solid depends on the extent of surface, I found that a baby got cold quicker or warm quicker when exposed to a fire than a man; also, as any living body is higher in temperature than the surrounding air and has to lose heat continually—the rate of loss depending on the surface—it is readily seen that a baby, in order to keep up normal temperature, has to furnish more heat in proportion to its weight than man, and therefore has to eat more in proportion to its weight than man. To prove that a baby gives out an enormous amount of heat, keep the heat from escaping by wrapping a heavy blanket around it. In a half an hour the temperature under the cover will be almost unbearable to the hand, and the baby will be found covered with sweat.

"The same knotty problem comes up when the baby is bathed. You know yourself how cool you feel when you bathe in a cold room in warm water, but in very little of it, so that most of your wet body is out of the water on account of the heat of your body being taken to evaporate the water? The baby suffers much worse on account of that same big proportion of surface.

"But I find one encouraging thing in this peculiar geometrical problem of the human form. I find that if a dress is made for my little daughter two feet high and one for her mother five feet high, it takes only one-sixth the cloth to do it, although the dresses were made in exactly the same style."—Lawrence Hodges in Chicago Record-Herald.

Big and Little Ships.

Speaking of the problem of unsinkable ships, the New York Commercial says:

"Few people outside of practical shipbuilders and navigators understand the difference between a large vessel and a small one in point of structural strength. The strongest vessel that floats in the water is a common row-boat. One can take an ordinary row-boat and carry it by the ends or it can rest on cleats under each end without breaking in the middle. But the strongest man-of-war or ocean liner that floats today would break in two if subjected to a similar strain. The larger a vessel the weaker it becomes in this respect, and for this reason many apparently good ideas which work out well in model form have failed utterly when applied to large vessels."

Billions of Beans.

"Beans—what do you know about beans, even in New England?" writes an American from Manchuria. "Come to Dairen and see the bean mills which turn out 62,000,000 pounds of bean oil in a year and over 10,000,000 bean cakes, weighing about sixty-five pounds each. Some beans! The bean cake, from which the oil has been extracted, goes for the most part to Japan, which country received last year about nine-tenths of the product. Japan also took over 100,000 tons of beans in natural form. Some beans!"—New York Tribune.

Champion Man Man.

"My husband is a very mean man about some things," complained the wife to the woman around the corner. "He has a deaf ear, and every time I try to call him down he acts as if he didn't hear me."

"That's certainly provoking," said the neighbor. "But one of his ears is good. Why don't you talk into that?"

"He won't tell me which it is," wailed the wife.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Honest Child.

"Since you worked your examples so nicely," said the pretty teacher, "I shall give you a kiss."

"Teacher, I didn't know there was to be a reward," responded the honest archer. "It's only fair to tell you that my big brother did them sums."—Pittsburgh Post.

He is, in my opinion, the noblest who has raised himself by his own merit to a higher station.—Cleora.

CANAL ESCAPES HARM DURING AN EARTHQUAKE

No Injury Done To Structures Of Water Way—Interior Towns Damaged.

Panama, Oct. 2. Absolutely no damage was done to the structures of the Panama Canal by the earthquake which occurred in the canal zone between 11 and 12 o'clock last night.

The official statement issued this afternoon concerning the earthquake shows that the first tremor was not noticed except on the seismograph at the Ancon Observatory. It occurred at 11:05 yesterday afternoon. The next and greatest shock was felt at 11:25 last night. Between then and 5:18 this morning eleven other tremors were recorded.

The violence of the vibration at 11:25 last night was so great that it threw the pen off the paper of the seismograph and consequently an exact record of its duration was not obtainable. The consensus of opinion is that it lasted from 20 to 25 seconds.

The instruments at the observatory showed that the center point or origin of the shocks was somewhere to the north of Colon in the Caribbean Sea.

The canal dam and the canal locks sustained absolutely no injury.

The only serious damage to buildings in the City of Panama was the shaking down of some of the plaster and fresco interiors of the famous flat-roofed Santa Domingo Church.

Colonel Goethals has received reports from every part of the canal territory stating that no damage whatever has resulted.

Reports of damage in the interior towns of the Panama republic began to come in late this afternoon. The earthquake appears to have been particularly violent in the province of Los Santos, where the Government palace in the City of Los Santos was wrecked and the police station badly cracked.

The schools in the City of Panama were ordered closed today in anticipation of further shocks.

Three hours after the occurrence of last night's disturbance one of the Central and South American cables broke at a point about 150 miles north of Panama. This may have been a coincidence or it may have been the result of the shocks. The break caused no inconvenience to the cable company's traffic.

The earthquake appears to have been of a submarine character.

Another Quake—No Damage.

Panama, Oct. 1. Another earthquake occurred on the Isthmus at 5:34 o'clock this afternoon.

It was almost equal in intensity to the shock of Wednesday night, its duration being from ten to fifteen seconds.

Buildings were severely shaken, but apparently no damage was done beyond the falling plaster and the opening of slight fissures in a few structures.

Reports from the canal zone officials indicate that neither the locks nor any part of the canal suffered in any degree whatever.

GIRLHOOD CREMS TO MEET AFTER 15 YEARS

Henderson, Ky., Oct. 6.—Like a romance reads the story of Mrs. M. J. Hartfield's discovery of her girlhood chum after years and years of separation.

Forty-five years ago, in a little German village, two young girls threw their arms around each other's necks and vowed that the world was not large enough to forever separate two loving hearts. Matilda Reiss and Betty Stein were orphans, and as such became all the world to each other.

On that sad day of parting Matilda sailed for America to make her home with friends in Hopkinsville, Ky. Later Betty Stein followed and became the bride of J. Nesbaum, who has become a prominent merchant of Los Angeles, Cal.

Little did either girl dream of a reunion in big America. But Mrs. Nesbaum ever forgot her girlhood chum, and about seven years ago she wrote to the old German home for some trace of Matilda. For seven years the letter was held in Germany and then, just a short time ago, forwarded to Matilda, now Mrs. M. J. Hartfield, wife of a prominent resident of Henderson. Quickly did Mrs. Hartfield flash a telegram to Mrs. Nesbaum, and now a meeting is being arranged—a reunion that is to include a journey back to the fatherland.

LAND OWNER THREATENED IN BLACK HAND LETTERS

Trickman, Ky., Oct. 6.—Dick Scott, one of the large land owners of this county, has received black hand letters through the mail warning him to cease working or rent his land to others. A number of Mr. Scott's renters have also received the warning by the way of letters.

It is not known what the trouble is about, and Mr. Scott is unable to fathom the mystery. It is said all the letters bear the Fulton, Ky., postmark and were written in red ink. Mr. Scott owns something like 1,000 acres of land near McConnell's county, a few miles from Fulton.

MINER FREED AFTER 8 DAYS SPENT IN MINE

Caused By Cave-In—Rescuers Finally Drive a Tunnel To Him.

Centralla, Pa., Oct. 4.—Thomas Teshesky, prisoner since Friday of last week in an abandoned chamber at the Continental mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, walked into the open air a free and comparatively well man at twenty-two minutes before 8 o'clock this morning. He was taken to his home in Centralla, three miles away from his underground prison, and at once put to bed, apparently none the worse for his remarkable experience.

It was 7:15 o'clock when the last barrier of coal was driven away and Teshesky crawled through the opening from his prison chamber into the tunnel which had been steadily driven toward him by eager, willing rescuers. Seven minutes later the first intimation was given to the outside world that the task had been completed and the prisoner was free.

Inhabitants of the town turned out to see Teshesky as he was whisked along the streets. His wife and five children waited for him at the door of his home. He got out of the car and walked up the steps to his family, embracing them all in turn, and kissing the baby repeatedly.

Describing his experience Teshesky said when he was closed in he thought he would be immediately crushed to death, as several thousand wagon loads of coal piled toward him from the bottom of the breast. In fact, two forests of coal ran away. Continuing, Teshesky said through an interpreter:

"My dinner bucket and coat at the bottom of the breast were lost as the coal rushed. I had all my mine tools with me and my lamp was burning. I had a half quart of oil in a can by my side. Sizing up the situation, I found I was entrapped in a space seven by fifteen feet. I had been entombed twice before, and rescuers soon got me out. I felt that they would again take care of me.

"From Friday until Tuesday I was without anything to eat or drink, and on the last day my oil gave out. I was in darkness. It was a dismal period from then until the rescuers drove the bore hole through. After I got several drinks of cognac I felt like a new man."

Great Weekly at a Low Price.

The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer, a twelve-page paper recently transformed into the size and appearance of a daily, will be furnished in connection with the Hartford Herald at only $1.35 for the two papers. This price stands good on renewals for The Herald. The Weekly Enquirer is an ideal newspaper, containing a big variety of reading and is especially suited to the farming classes. It is Democratic and progressive. This is certainly a low price for a lot of good reading.

A Knees Drought.

Atchison county has been so dry this season that J. E. Rank wants the Game Warden to provide the catfish with their dusters.—[Kansas City Star.]

Because, I'll alleged, women are not included in the prayers of the clergy, suffragettes disturbed the services in Westminster Abbey.

BETTER BUSINESS AND GOOD ROADS

Modern Methods of Building Are Now Essential.

FARMER KING OF COUNTRY.

Yet Without Good Roads the Agriculturist Cannot Take Advantage of the Best Markets For His Produce at All Seasons of the Year.

The primary source of wealth in our agricultural states is the farm products. The margin of profit on farm products is largely affected by the relative distance to market and the conditions of the wagon roads. Without railroads the value of most farm land would not exceed one-quarter of what it is today. Wagon roads are the connecting links between the farms and the railroads, and with good roads the farmer can take advantage of the best market at all times. Every one that uses roads should be interested in having good roads. How can they be made? Shall we continue to make them by the primitive methods used by our forefathers, or shall we adopt modern methods?

Obsolete, impractical, inefficient and most expensive methods are in most places in use. Roadmaking in general has not kept pace with most other in-disasters in the use of practical and efficient labor saving devices. The old way of working roads on a day to day wet to plow corn or harvest, putting a few shovelfuls of earth in the middle of the road in heaps like a dilapidated mountain range and leaving them to be leveled by the elements of nature and use, should be abandoned. Road work should be placed in the hands of competent workmen that work continuously during the suitable season with a practical power roadmaking equipment. With this ten times as much first class road can be made and finished as where old methods are used with the same amount of money. This plan works no hardship on the farmer. He is the king of the country and has enough to do on his farm without working roads.

A modern roadmaking outfit can be operated with three men at a cost of from $15 to $20 per day, says a writer in the Iowa Homestead, and will make a mile of finished road as smooth as a paved street. This includes the making of open ditches on the sides from one foot to four feet deep, at the pleasure of the operator.

Earth roads should have a slope each way from the center of about three quarters of an inch to the foot on level or nearly level places; on hills it may be less. If depressions are left they hold water, and everything that touches these places makes them larger.

The supreme thing is to keep the roadbed dry, thus lessening the bad effects of frost and the cost of upkeep. Scientific roadmaking preserves as much as possible the primitive condition of the ground—that is, in grading the road one should not plow it up like a field, but displace only what earth is necessary to bring the road to the proper grade and side slope. In observing these matters years are saved in making a perfect roadbed.

Earth roads are the most delightful of all roads when well graded and free from dust. All well graded roads can be wonderfully improved and the upkeep lessened one-half by covering the top with a coating of about two inches of sharp sand and clay in which may be mixed half crushed stone that will go through a one inch mesh. If sand and clay are used, mix in the proportion of 80 per cent of sand and 20 per cent of clay. If crushed stone is used, mix it half and half with the sand and clay mixture. This coating should be spread on and harrowed and rolled until it is thoroughly mixed and packed so as to fill all the voids, and then it will shed the water like a roof and keep your roadbed dry. In half an hour after a hard rain you will have a good road. This can be improved by sprinkling with a mixture made of crude petroleum in the proportion of one barrel of oil to three barrels of water emulsified with the soluble part or cream of clay.

A little sand improves an earth road somewhat, but when used alone it is too porous and soon washes into the ditches.

Merits of Macadam.

Macadam, in use for a century, is more universally used for country road paving than any other. It costs much less and is more easily repaired.
